Rural Allied Health Undergraduate Scholarship Program 2013

In 2013, the Victorian Healthcare Association is offering scholarships to support Victorian students from rural locations commencing undergraduate allied health degrees.

The rural allied health undergraduate scholarship aims to provide financial assistance to students from rural areas to assist them in meeting the additional costs they may face while making the transition into undergraduate studies. Scholarships are available to students entering into their first year of university studies, in metropolitan or rural locations in a range of allied health disciplines.

The VHA also provides scholarships to allied health practitioners commencing postgraduate studies. The rural allied health postgraduate scholarship program supports rural allied health professionals who have demonstrated a commitment to rural practice to improve their skills and expertise through postgraduate studies.

The Victorian Healthcare Association would greatly appreciate if your university would please advertise our scholarship online.

Information pertaining to the undergraduate scholarship program can be directly found at http://www.vha.org.au/page/923.html.

Further information and application forms for the Rural Allied Health Undergraduate Scholarship Program 2013 will be available on our website, www.vha.org.au from Monday 19 November 2012.

Please do not hesitate to contact the VHA with any queries vha email at vha@vha.org.au.

Yours sincerely,
